DIGITAL AT THE CENTER. RIGHTS AT THE MARGINS?

25 JANUARY 2022
Privacy Camp is the annual conference bringing together over 300 digital rights advocates, activists as well as academics and policy-makers from all around Europe and beyond to discuss the most pressing issues facing human rights online. Started in 2012 as a small gathering of digital rights activists and academia, the event takes place every year in Brussels (Belgium)/online, on the day before CPDP.
"Privacy Camp is the best event to strategize and organize with activists and researchers from all over Europe, a unique opportunity to meet with people working for the present and future of human rights in the EU."
- Riccardo Coluccino, Hermes Center for Transparency and Digital Human Rights

"Each year we are looking forward to this event, where we are able to exchange knowledge and perspectives from Europe's diverse regions. I find this as an excellent opportunity for empowering debate on digital rights challenges in the Balkans as well."
- Sofija Todorovic, Balkan Investigative Reporting Network

"One of the highlights of Privacy Camp for us at CENTR is the wide range of speakers, coming from all sides of the spectrum and offering their own unique viewpoints. A treat for all participants!"
- Lydia Stoddart, CENTR
